Coffin Turbo Pump, Inc. acquires JR Engineering and Machining Corporation.

Coffin Turbo Pump Inc. (CTPI) is proud to announce the acquisition of JR Engineering and Machining Corporation (JRE) Hillsdale, NJ. The merger of these two companies provides our customers with access to a combined 150 years of experience related to engineered pump products and repair services across multiple industries. CTPI offers in-house engineering, pump design, manufacturing, and functional test capabilities with a global network of parts, repairs and service centers that support a vast network of installed steam turbine and motor driven boiler feed pumps in the marine, offshore, nuclear, and industrial markets. Together with JRE's 55 years of experience providing quality replacement pump parts, engineered upgrades, pump repairs and turnkey field services, the combined companies provide an unparalleled level of customer support for any pump related needs. JRE operations will be consolidated into CTPI facilities in Englewood NJ while the highly regarded JR Engineering & Machining Company brand name is being retained by CTPI. The CTPI Team extends a warm welcome to our JRE colleagues including Principals Joe Kilroy and Joe Kloss.
